Waiting Room Survival Guide

After about five minutes of silence, a message appeared. "I said I don't want to play poker. What part of 'no' didn't you understand?" For a moment I thought I had fallen asleep at the keyboard while my dog, Daisy, started inviting people to play games.

"Excuse me?" I replied. The member then explained he was talking to someone else, but still had me selected or high-lighted. This brings up a few interesting points I would like to touch on for both new and seasoned members.

ImaginNation is one of few national networks allowing you to easily select certain people in a room for real-time chat. It's easy enough one might not need to write an article on it, but questions and comments arise often enough to merit an explanation.

Four "lands" currently make up ImaginNation: the Clubhouse, Sierraland, CasinoLand and MedievalLand. In each of these lands, there is a Waiting Room. Name tiles represent each person currently logged in to that particular room. If there are ten tiles, there are ten people available for chat or games.

Let's say you want to play a game. Before you enter a land, you select which games you are interested in playing. Choose any, all, or no game titles depending on your mood. This enables members to locate other members in the same game-playing mood.

You're in CasinoLand and want to play poker, a two or more person game. You'll need to find someone else to play. Click on "Go to," then "A Person" then "Match Game Interests." A list of all CasinoLand games appears. Click on "Poker" and you will see a list of members who currently want to play Poker. The "Select All" option will highlight their tiles. The "Look" option automatically clicks on "Look" for you so you can file through the toons to see who best matches your character's personality type.

Looking for a quicker way to get your voice heard? While in the Waiting Room, you can click on "All" to make a broadcast. This sends a message to all available members in the Waiting Room. People who have icons by their names are not selected, involved in a game or other activity, they are unavailable to play.

After sending the broadcast, you may get some responses, or you may not. It depends on what you have to say and how you say it. Some good reasons for making a broadcast would be: finding out if anyone wants to play anything, conversation topics or just saying hello. All we ask is you not abuse the function. It's home. Well, The ImaginNation Network is doing just that - inviting famous celebrities, authors and other experts to meet you on-line from the comfort of your easy chair!

Celebrities, business experts and game designers, will be on-line for exciting conferences just for INN members! In the coming months you'll see even more special events on a regular basis designed to interest virtually everyone.

Coming in August

Scheduled for August is voluptuous "B" movie queen, Linnea Quigley (see photo on front page). Linnea has starred there to help you interact, not make a buffoon of yourself.

Did you know you can talk to people while playing a game? By clicking on "Options" from within the game, then clicking on "List Room," you get a list of who's in the same room you are. To Talk to them, click on their name and then start typing. The conversation will continue normally.

You can have as many conversations as you can handle. The conversations remain separate as long as you use the "Reply" button. If you click on "OK," instead, it clears the message. All selected people see what you subsequently type.

Interacting on ImaginNation is sort of like riding a bike - once you get the hang of it, you won't have to think about how to do it. If you just experiment and explore the system, you'll discover ways to interact you didn't know were there. You might even meet some new friends in the process. My dog Daisy has a date to play roulette with a nice young man from Cincinnati this coming Saturday.

INN, Tuesday, August 2 at 6 p.m. in a Tournaments conference room.

World-famous astrologer, Alex Szogyi, has charted the future for such diverse luminaries as actors Candice Bergen and Judd Hirsch, polio vaccine developer Dr. Jonas Salk and chef James Beard. Find out why Alex is sought out by so many of the world's most interesting people on Friday, August 26 at 6 p.m. in a Tournaments conference room.

Included: Beck, Frente, Candlebox, Pavement, The Pretenders, The Violent Femmes and Boingo, to name a few. As the groups finished their sets, they joined Imagination on-line to talk to their fans both at the show in the festival area as well as INN members. Way cool, huh?

Those of you who were on-line that day may have had the special treat of talking to Danny Elfman, composer of the sound-tracks to such blockbuster movies as Batman and A Nightmare Before Christmas. He also composed the theme song to the hit TV show, The Simpsons. Besides composing abilities, Danny is the lead singer of Boingo (formerly Oingo Boingo) and took to the network like gravy to biscuits. MTV video jockey Ricki Rachtman was also on-line to speak to fans in the audience and our members answering ing probing questions such as, "What is Cindy (Crawford) really like?" Many members use celebrity handles on-line. It is all part of the fun here on INN. To avoid confusion, when The Imagination Network sponsors an event like this, it is usually held in either a chat room or a specially designated conference room with INN Sysops present. If a Sysop tells you the celebrity is really who they claim to be, be assured that your favorite star or VIP is actually there on-line with you!

We're working hard to create more exciting opportunities and events where you will meet celebrities and other interesting people on-line. Considering the positive reception the Weenie Roast received from everyone involved, you can look forward to more special celebrity conferences in the future.
